Hello Beautiful Friend!

It's that time of year when I always get asked "Can I still wear white after Labor Day?" Now I know some of your grandmothers are going to roll over in their graves when I say this, but the answer is "YES"!

A few years ago I decided to check out the website of the Queen of Etiquette, Emily Post, and see what she had to say about this and guess what? It was pretty much word-for word the answer I was giving!

Here it is from the website:

"Of course, you can wear white after Labor Day, and it makes perfect sense to do so in climates where September's temperatures are hardly fall-like. It's more about fabric choice today than color. Even in the dead of winter in Northern New England the fashionable wear white wools, cashmeres, jeans, and down-filled parkas. The true interpretation is "wear what's appropriate - for the weather, the season, or the occasion."

Here in Tennessee we are still experiencing some warm temperatures so I will still be seen in my white jeans! You can transition into fall/winter by pairing them with booties instead of sandals, leopard flats, lightweight fall scarves, denim jackets and other layering pieces. Here are some examples.

This is a good time to go through your closet and make a list of things you may need to add for your fall/winter wardrobe. I will be sharing the fall/winter colors and trends in my next few emails so be watching! In the meantime, here's a Six Steps To Closet- Fabulous download that you can follow and get your closet ready for the next season.
